Fifth Sunday of Lent

Sunday, April 7, 2019

Dear parishioners,

Our RCIA members, who look forward to joining the Church at the Easter Vigil Mass, have been learning recently about sin. Personal sin, societal sin, and institutional sin.

All three are very real, and it is very important for us to know this, deal with this reality, and not be afraid to speak about this as believers.

Today’s Gospel story, it seems to me, touches upon all three types of sin. The woman has indeed committed adultery. However, society chooses to punish only her, not her male accomplice. Furthermore, the religious institution wants to carry out capital punishment — until Jesus the Lord reveals the hypocrisy of the whole nasty business by saying:

“Let the one among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her.”
Again he bent down and wrote on the ground.
And in response, they went away one by one, beginning with the elders.
So he was left alone with the woman before him.
Then Jesus straightened up and said to her,
“Woman, where are they?
Has no one condemned you?”
She replied, “No one, sir.”
Then Jesus said, “Neither do I condemn you.
Go, and from now on do not sin any more.”

(John 8:1-11)

Jesus does not deny the sinfulness of adultery, which the Lord God forbids in the Ten Commandments: it spews poison on the person, on marriage, on trust, on children, and on one’s alleged commitment to leading a life in accord with God’s loving covenant. If you break the covenant of marriage, will you not go on to break other covenants, including the covenant with God? Your priestly promises of celibacy? Your religious order’s vows of chastity? The good example our children should see in us, their elders?

Since the beginning of time, we have seen how sin spreads, and more recently we have seen how the scourge of child abuse has destroyed countless young people, the damage lasting long after they are adults with their own families. The workshops Father Ginter and I attended last fall exposed the widespread poison of abuse and neglect, which is not usually committed by “suspicious strangers” but rather by those nearest and dearest, those whom the child trusts the most.

Like the woman in today’s Gospel, may we turn away from our sin — personal, societal, and institutional. May be choose to be a force for God’s goodness, even if it means sacrifice, a powerful change of life, and a huge step of humility and honesty.
