that we have Christ dwelling within our carnal selves
through the flesh, and we shall live through Him

Dear parishioners,

For us who are Catholic Christians, today’s celebration is at the very heart of our faith. The reception of Holy Communion is the high point of each Mass celebrated throughout the world, when Jesus’ sisters and brothers walk forward to receive the Risen and Glorified Lord in Eucharist, as we have been doing since that night in the upper room. “The celebration of the Eucharistic sacrifice is wholly directed toward the intimate union of the faithful with Christ through Communion. To receive Communion is to receive Christ himself who has offered himself for us.” (Catechism of the Catholic Church, 1382)

When we enter a Catholic church, we look for the red sanctuary lamp, a sign to us of where the tabernacle with the Blessed Sacrament is located. We genuflect before going into the pew, as a sign of reverence to the Real Presence of Jesus in that Eucharist — and this genuflection can be not only good for us (showing that we do believe and do have respect), but also for those who see us. The first Catholic Mass I attended in college was a mystical experience, in part because of what I saw the faithful do.

The Church teaches that the most important moment of the Mass is when God’s people receive Jesus in Holy Communion, so our actions during this sacred time should be an inspiration for those who might see this for the very first time. There is nothing “holier” or “better” about receiving the Host on the tongue: it is simply an option, and up to the communicant. There is nothing “holier” or “better” about receiving the Host in the hand either, but both options should show reverence. The early Fathers of the Church taught that, when receiving in the hand, one should put the left hand on top of the right, forming a “throne” for the King of Kings; then one picks up the Host with the right hand and consumes it reverently. If people are receiving on the tongue, they should also display reverence and common sense, making it easy for the priest to place the Host on their tongue: this means no lunging forward, no bobbing up or down. Just say “amen” and then receive the Lord Jesus with joy and gratitude.

The faithful also have the option to receive Holy Communion under both species (which the Church teaches is ideal), or only under one species: some people cannot tolerate even low-gluten Hosts and thus only receive the Precious Blood during the Communion procession. Others receive only the Host and do not approach the chalice, which is their right. (It’s rather like going to the Sacrament of Confession: you may choose to speak to the priest face to face, or to go behind the screen: neither way is “holier” or “better” but both options should be open to you.)

The Body and Blood of Christ in Eucharist are offered to us, to help us become more like Jesus. It doesn’t matter whether we receive Holy Communion from the Pope, or from our neighbor down the street: it is the Lord. It doesn’t matter whether the Eucharist has been consecrated during a Tridentine Mass, a Mass in English, a Charismatic Mass, or a Mass for our school children: it is the Lord. It doesn’t matter that the Sacred Sacrifice we receive is celebrated in Jerusalem, Rome, Tiburon, or in a nursing home: it is the Lord.

This is one of the great beauties of our Catholic faith: all that really matters is that people of faith have been gathered by Jesus, that they listen to God’s Word in Holy Scripture, and then take part in “the breaking of the bread” as the early Church called it: it is the Lord Jesus who is present, who feeds us, consecrates us, and then sends us out on mission to help those most in need to hear the Good News we have listened to, and come to believe with us in him as well: the Lord. May this Risen and Glorified Lord Jesus bless you and yours!

Letter Campaign Against SB360, “Seal of Confession”
Bill Valerie Schmalz, Director, Office of Human Life & Dignity 415-614-5571 schmalzv@sfarch.org sfarch.org/KeepTheSeal

Archbishop Cordileone asks all the faithful of the Archdiocese to contact their state Assembly representative to voice their opposition to SB360, proposed legislation that threatens the confidentiality of the Sacrament of Penance and Reconciliation. The state Senate has already approved the bill, which would take away the full right to confession from priests and everyone who works with priests in parishes and Church agencies statewide. Pastors received an email earlier today from the Archbishop, advising that the Office of Human Life & Dignity is organizing a letter-writing campaign on the weekend of June 22-23. Letters will be available for signature at Masses, to be collected later and delivered to Sacramento during Religious Freedom week. Parishioners may also send an electronic letter via our website, above. Much more information is available on the website, as well. Please place this information on your communication channels (website, social media, bulletin) and share as widely as possible.

Farewell Party
for Father Ginter!
Saturday, June 29, 6:00 p.m. in Tarantino Hall

Please join us for Father Andrew Ginter’s final weekend at St. Hilary by coming to a reception in his honor right after he celebrates the five o’clock Mass on Saturday.

It seems like just yesterday his big heart and bright smile arrived in Tiburon to serve God and God’s people, and now we have the chance to wish him well on his new assignment as full-time chaplain to the students, families, faculty and staff of Marin Catholic High School.

Father Ginter will be living at St. Patrick Rectory in nearby Larkspur, and commuting to work each day.
