The parish vision is, simply put, to get us all into heaven. Our mission is to build a community in which we can experience the goodness of the Lord at work in our midst and share some of that limitless joy awaiting us in God’s kingdom.
St. Hilary Book Club will not meet the month of August.
We will meet Monday, Sept. 17. At our Sept. meeting we will select our books for 2018-2019. Members please bring a couple of books to recommend. Be prepared to give a brief synopsis of your book and we will make our selections.

St. Hilary Book Club meets the 3rd Monday of each month in Tarantino Hall from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. We discuss the book for the first hour and then we enjoy light refreshments. We welcome new members.

Fifteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear friends in Christ,

Today’s Gospel has always sounded a bit scary to me — even in seminary, friends would laughingly say that I never left my room without a snake bit kit, water, road flares, and a blanket in case of an emergency. And yet Jesus tells his apostles to not worry, to travel lightly, and to have faith:

Jesus summoned the Twelve and began to send them out two by two and gave them authority over unclean spirits. He instructed them to take nothing for the journey but a walking stick— no food, no sack, no money in their belts. They were, however, to wear sandals but not a second tunic. He said to them, “Wherever you enter a house, stay there until you leave. Whatever place does not welcome you or listen to you, leave there and shake the dust off your feet in testimony against them.” So they went off and preached repentance. The Twelve drove out many demons, and they anointed with oil many who were sick and cured them.

These men were sent out on mission, but told to trust that enough people would welcome them and care for them, because people are good and generous.

Perhaps the most memorable experience of hospitality I ever encountered was when two seminary classmates and I flew to Mexico City, on our way to Cuernavaca to study Spanish over the summer. We stayed a few days in Mexico City with the family of a classmate before continuing on our way south. The family was not wealthy in terms of money, housing, belongings, car, or neighborhood, but they were rich in kindness, and overflowing in generosity. Mom and Dad were wonderful, and the kids were so protective of us.

The three of us seminarians were given bedrooms, and the children moved out to sleep in the living room. The family went out of their way to make us feel welcome as newcomers to Mexico, and the young people showed us all around the city, refusing to let us do anything for them at all. We wanted to express our thanks, and only after much dialog and creative thinking were we finally able to find a way to express our gratitude in a way that would be accepted and appropriate to the family. They wanted nothing — nothing except the chance to make three foreigners feel welcomed in their county, and to experience Mexico City in a way which would leave us with good memories, and a happy eagerness to begin our studies in Cuernavaca.

When it was time for us to take the bus south to Cuernavaca, two of the older kids even accompanied us, to make sure we would learn how to manage with taxis, safe water, etc. Our classmate, their brother, left the seminary and got married, and I’m certain the graciousness he learned at home is serving his family right now!
